Plan Organization Of Fish & Game Association

The successful organization of a Vulcan and district Fish and Game Association was almost assured at a meeting held Monday night in the Legion Hall.

Three Lethbridge Fish and Game men, two game wardens and members from High River and Carmanagay clubs gave the local gathering an outline and history of the parent fish and game organization and a temporary executive was set up pending the election of a complete slate of officers at a future meeting.

On this board is Montie Findlay, chairman; Gordon Bell, vice-president, and Ray Scott, secretary.

Steve Dixon of Brant, who was president of the High River branch for three years, handled the meeting and introduced Ken Watts, the Lethbridge Regional Representative who, in his outline, described the pressure that is being put on the government to formulate a crop insurance scheme similar to that which is in effect in Saskatchewan. This plan protects the farmer in that province against duck and crane damage, against losses from moose and deer and from other similar sources.

Earl Carr of Lethbridge, past president of the Alberta Fish and Game Association explained the setup of the 90-local organization and named the committees which Audrey was gowned in white net over blue nylon and her bouquet was a nosegay of small pink carnations.

Attending the groom was his brother, Alfred Duffield of Pincher Creek and Harvey Eamorr of Vulcan. Ushers were Neil Garvin and Gordon Duffield.

Ring bearers were the small twin brothers of the bride, Michael and Jimmie.

During the ceremony and signing of the register Mrs. N. K. Budd presided at the organ and Warden Budd sang "Because" and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by his mother.

Following the ceremony a reception for some 35 guests was held. Receiving with the bridal couple were Mr. and Mrs. Best. Mrs. Best chose for her daughter's wedding a mushroom toned suit, with matching accessories. Her corsage was of brown carnations. Mrs. Duffield was attired in a grey suit, with which she wore matching accessories, and a red carnation corsage.

A three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table and streamers of pink and white were used for decoration. Miss Vicki Eliuk was in charge of the guest book and the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Warden.

The bride changed to a suit of light blue, with matching accessories and she wore a necklace and earring set, the gift of the groom. After a short honeymoon at a number of Montana points, Mr. and Mrs. Duffield have taken up

Weeding Out Incompetents

One of the difficulties of basing teachers' salaries on a neat sliding scale related to experience and training is that it lumps all teachers together regardless of aptitude and ability. Two teachers with the same qualifications receive equal pay, according to the schedule, yet being human they differ by nature. One may be a failure in the classroom, but he is protected by consistent salary standards applicable to all according to experience and training. The other may inspire students to a pursuit of knowledge over and above classroom requirements but he receives no reward for this special gift.

It is not so in the other professions, with which the teachers like to be compared. An engineer who doesn't cut the mustard isn't on a company payroll for long. The doctor and the dentist and the lawyer must prove their capabilities before they can build up a practice. If they don't, they either starve or change jobs. But the teacher who may be a misfit in his occupation, keeps on teaching and receives higher salary increments for doing it.

A system of merit rating would help to distinguish between the good teacher and the bad. It sounds easy in theory, but we can agree with the teachers that it would be difficult to institute in practice. The main obstacle is not how to judge the worth of a teacher, but who is to do the judging. Examination results give a criterion of sorts but there are the many intangibles imparted by a good teacher to his students which can only be evaluated in the classroom.

The merit rating would be worth-while if it incorporated bonuses to the deserving. As it is now, the incompetent is overpaid by an inflexible salary schedule. Further he is sheltered under the cloak of the A.T.A., like a baby bird under the wing of its mother.

It is very difficult, in fact well nigh impossible, for a school board to dismiss a teacher on grounds other than moral. Thus a poor instructor, who for the sake of the children would be better off in some other work, cannot be fired. He enjoys a security of position and a steady income unequalled in other walks of life.

FERTILIZE AND INCREASE PROFITS

Experimental Farm — Lethbridge
U. J. Pittman — Agronomist

A phrase often heard is, "I can't afford to fertilize with prices going down." Though greatest increases in yield from fertilization usually occur on relatively infertile soils, a careful analysis of farm production costs shows that maximum profits may be obtained from crops grown on many other soils only after adequate fertilization. The following calculated returns from the yields of grain obtained in trials conducted by the Lethbridge Experimental Farm illustrate this statement. Prices used were: Wheat, $1.25 per bushel; barley, 70c per bushel; nitrogen, 13c per pound; phosphorus (P2O5), 9c per pound.

On eroded fine sandy loam at Claresholm the average yield of wheat on stubble was 26.2 bushels per acre, valued at $32.75. An application of 20 pounds of nitrogen and 20 pounds of phosphorus (P2O5) increased the yield to 34.8 bushels per acre, the value of which was $39.10 after deducting the fertilizer costs. When 40 pounds of nitrogen and 40 pounds of phosphorus (P2O5) were applied at seeding time, the yield of wheat was 44.5 bushels per acre, the value of which was $46.82 after deducting fertilizer costs. An expenditure of $8.80 per acre for fertilizer (40-40-0) increased the net value of the crop produced by

At Fort Macleod on eroded silty clay loam fallow the yield of barley was 39.4 bushels per acre, worth $27.53. Where 10 pounds of nitrogen and 20 pounds of phosphorus were applied, the yield was 43.3 bushels per acre, but the value of the crop was only $27.41 after deducting fertilizer costs. However, where 10 pounds of nitrogen and 40 pounds of phosphorus were applied, the average yield was 56.1 bushels per acre, the value of which was $34.37 after deducting the fertilizer costs. An expenditure of $2.90 per acre for 10 pounds of nitrogen and 20 pounds of phosphorus netted a loss of income on fertilizer purchased. An expenditure of $4.90 per acre for 10 pounds of nitrogen and 40 pounds of phosphorus brought a profit of $6.79 per acre over fertilizer costs.

In each instance the higher rates of fertilizer application produced the highest yields. With high yields the costs per unit of production were lower since fixed costs for land preparation, seed, seedling, seed, weed spraying, and harvesting remained about the same. Lower production costs resulted in higher profits per unit area farmed. Profits can be maintained under dropping prices and rising costs only when output is produced at lower per unit costs.

For local fertilizer recommendations consult your District Agriculturist or nearest Experimental Farm.

NEW CANADIAN AIR SERVICE: One of Canadian Pacific Airlines new 400 m.p.h. Britannia aircraft streaks across the above layout as it will through the skies of Canada on May 4 when CPA's new daily cross-Canada service links Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Cutting one hour, 25 minutes from existing commercial airline flying time between Vancouver and Montreal, CPA will become the first Canadian airline to provide tourist accommodation in a jet-prop plane.

Upper left, Capt. Jim McGuire explains to passenger the "Eye in the Sky" radar unit installed to detect weather disturbances ahead of the airliner so that the rough air may be avoided.

Upper right, stewards and stewardesses from Germany, China, Holland, France and Japan who operate on CPA's international routes fanning out from each end of the new cross-Canada service.

Lower left, meals on tables and continental cuisine will be features of both tourist and first class service when operations commence.

Lower right, pilots learn how to fly the Britannia in a flight simulator, exact replica of the plane's flight deck. The operator, seated behind pilots, flicks switches to create every type of in-flight situation which a pilot might encounter. At bottom, route map indicates mileages and eastbound flying times between cities to be served by CPA, and also shows international connections at each end of new route.

District NewsMAJORVILLE

Snow and drifting snow was the weather pattern for a while at the beginning of the week, this was followed by a good root soaking rain, in all almost 9/10 of an inch of moisture was recorded. This should help get crops started if the weather ever clears off long enough to allow seeding to progress, some seeding has been done, but seeding is by no means general as yet.

Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Prentice were in Calgary for a day or two the first of the week. While in the city they attended the Mantovani show at the corral.

Mrs. Anne Smith of Calgary was a guest over Mother's Day weekend at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith also visiting at the Smith's on Saturday was Mrs. Douglas Korsch of Crowfoot.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Winch and Margaret were visitors to Brooks on Tuesday.

Bert Clemmons and Junior Bertschy went to Blackie on Wednesday evening to attend Masonic Lodge.

A number of small fry were guests at the home of Mrs. Hap Heather during the week when Brenda had her 1st birthday party. The small guests were Patsy and Allen Bartsch, Wendy, Bonnie and Larry Deltz and Ricky and Eleanor Clemmons. Grownups for tea that same afternoon were Mrs. Bartsch, Mrs. George Heather and Jo Anne (grandmother and aunt) Mrs. Bert Clemmons, Mrs. M. Clemmons and Mrs. Bob Deltz.

On Wednesday afternoon, May 20, a Bake Sale will be held in the school auditorium following the annual meeting of the Milo Home and School.

Congratulations and best birthday wishes go to Mrs. Nellie Burke who passed her 82nd milestone. During the week, Grannie, as she is affectionately known is still quite well and interested in all community affairs.

A travelling basket to raise funds for the Explorers has been making the rounds of the neighborhood. It has been reported to have been quite successful.

Among the recent Calgary visitors recently were Mrs. Bartsch and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Lew. The latter report that their small son, Jimmie, who has been a patient in the Children's Hospital for severe leg injury, the result of a fall from a horse about a year ago. Jimmie had an operation a short time ago and as the cast was removed only Monday it is too early to know for certain whether the operation was a success. Everyone certainly hopes so.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertschy were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Oberholtzer of Arrowwood.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heather went to Enchant to spend Mother's Day with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jacobson.

The other morning Mrs. Prentice happened to glance through the window and noticed a strange outfit going around the field. As son Jim hadn't said anything about having extra help with the seeding she wondered what was going on. Then she saw the strange outfit meet Jim at the corner of the field. It seems that Irvin Sukuts' man got mixed up in his directions and started seeding in Prentice's field instead of Sukuts'. Jim said it was o.k. to go ahead and finish as he wanted some of that barley anyhow. It might be a good way to cut expenses if the mistake isn't found out too soon.

Mrs. Mabel Deltz of Calgary was down from the city to spend some time at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Gore.

KIRKCALDY

Mrs. Doug Wilson and Mrs. A. W. Malley motored to Lethbridge on Friday of last week.

Hazel Roe of Calgary has been visiting at the Spencer Lewis home.

Friends of Grant Mallory extend birthday congratulations to him on his 80th birthday, May 16.

SWEET CLOVER WEEVIL

Due to the recent wet weather this insect may become a serious pest this year, and may already be present in some fields. Farmers should check their sweet clover fields often to see if the weevil is present, especially seedling fields that are close to a second year field. They will travel considerable distance to find the clover. They may also severely defoliate second year fields in the spring. In mid-summer a second generation of adults may appear, usually after second year fields are harvested for forage. They will then move onto new first year stands.

The adults usually begin feeding at the edge of the field, so this is often where the damage is first noticed. The damage first appears as crescent shaped pieces eaten out of the leaves. Complete defoliation may follow.

The insects are small, dark grey beetles with a long snout. They are difficult to see as they drop to the ground and remain still when disturbed.

Sweet clover should be seeded as far as possible from last year's crops. It is helpful to practice surface tillage after the hay is harvested, in late July or early August.

Chemical control consists of spraying with dieldrin or heptachlor at one half pound of active ingredient per acre, or aldrin at one pound, or chlordane at one and a half pounds. Cost of this treatment is between $1 and $2 per acre.

Do not use the above materials on clover that is to be used as pasture or cut for hay for milk cows, for other animals allow 30 days after treatment before cutting or feeding. Forage treated with heptachlor can be used a bit sooner.

Be sure sprayers have been cleaned to remove weed killer.

See the District Agriculturist or Service Board Supervisor for further information.

GOOD FIREMEN

The pulp and paper industry spends more on forest protection than the provincial governments, the owners of the forests. The mills have a greater investment in fire fighting equipment than the provinces.

The
Pondering Citizen

The Pondering Citizen sat behind the wheel of his car. He was waiting for his wife and family to get ready for their regular Saturday shopping trip to town. The radio was tuned in, but it was just a noise. He was thinking.

"That news-caster said there would be another election in June. Guess those boys at Edmonton have nothing else to do with their time. Doesn't seem to matter who wins the election anyway. All they do is talk about the poor Joe who is trying to make out, and then they up his taxes.

"Taxes up another ten percent this year and probably up again next year. Sure seems a merry-go-round. We want schools and roads and all the other benefits. Well they do cost money, so I guess I can't complain. I pay for the car and the house, not to mention the television and the food to live by.

"I suppose they'll use all of the old 'guff' about taxes and expenses, and try to show we are living better. These elections give me a pain where it hurts. Specially that Jones down the road. Always yacking about getting out the vote. What good has it done? I've been both a voter and a non-voter and it hasn't made much difference.

"Come to think of it, I guess I haven't voted in the last three provincial elections. Missed two federal elections too. They never seemed to miss the vote, and it never changed their attitude toward election issues. And the taxes just kept on going up.

"Guess the people who are trying to get elected feel they have to put up a show though. It's their bread and butter, so at least they should make an effort once in a while.

"Guess I'll have to listen to the neighbors argue about the issues too. Maybe I should listen for a while and see if there is anything new. Might get a good argument going for a bit of fun."

The Pondering Citizen's thoughts were interrupted. The family got in the car and they headed for town. Still, there was a slight nagging in his mind that he'd have to think about this election a bit more.

Inserted and paid for by M. D. Bruser, as a private citizen.

SERVICE BOARD NOTES

By H. S. Burns

Spray crops on time, otherwise much of the good derived from spraying is lost.

In experiments conducted in western Canada last year it was proven that there were 100 weeds to the square yard in the crop, and no spraying done, the yield was 18 bushels to the acre, where it was sprayed at the four leaf stage the yield was 47 bushels, at the six leaf stage 39 bushels and at the shoot blade the yield dropped to 19 bushels. Last year 43% of prairie crops were sprayed but 50% of that was done too late to be of maximum benefit.

Some other experiments were conducted in Manitoba, commencing in 1956 and continued through 1957 and 1958. A total of 150 farm fields were selected at random for the study, records were kept for the weeds and the ones that were kept free by hand weeding. One field had no weeds while the weediest had over 2000 to the square yard, the average for all was 224 per square yard, with over 30 different kinds of weeds. Some fields were stubble and some were fallow the stubble fields were 40% weedier than fallow.

Now for the results in comparison to weed free plots:

	Weeds	Yield	Reduction
Crop per sq. yd.	%	%	%
Wheat	198	19.5	14.3
Barley	324	11.9	18.6
Oats	228	10.6	6.5
Flax	157	26.6	27.6
Average	224	15.9	17.5

The extreme conditions in 1958 were the cause of the yield reduction in that year. The test again showed that some fields were sprayed too late, or at too light a rate. Another result of the test was the protein level being higher in the clean crop than the weedy.

The information gained from these tests can be used to calculate the losses for the prairies resulting from weeds. A figure of 225 million is the estimate, or $5 a seeded acre. This loss can be avoided at a fraction of this cost by spraying and good farm practise.

Mother's Day Program

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the Evangelical Free Church on Friday, May 9, when a number of the mothers put on the program for the Young People's

And they sang a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book and to open the seals thereof: for Thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by Thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation; and hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth.

The new song is the song of redemption. When God created the universe it was so beautiful that the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy. But that old song was soon hushed when sin came in to mar God's wondrous handiwork. Now that His own Son has wrought our redemption, we who once were lost ruined sinners take up the new song and praise the Lamb once slain, who has washed us from our sins and made us to be a royal priesthood. Angels cannot sing this song. They have never known what it is to be redeemed. It is for the sons of God by faith to lift their voices in this glorious anthem which will fill the courts of heaven with melody. But only those who learn it here can sing it there. advt. —A.C.F.

VERSLUYS — KUZIW

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Monday, March 2, before an altar banked with red roses.

Rev. Father Lamere heard the marriage vows at the double ring ceremony that united in marriage the younger daughter, Theresa Mary, of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kuziw and Dale Weston, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Versluys, all of Champion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowning in a floor length model of net over satin with bouffant skirt. The bodice featured a scalloped neckline and lily point sleeves. Her illusion net veil was three-quarter length and fell from a sequin studded tiara. Her only jewellery was a rhinestone set, a gift of the groom. She carried a Missal and rosary which was beautifully decorated with red roses.
